ADVANTAGES OF IN PERSON MADRASSAH VS ONLINE

Personalised Attention and Immediate Feedback

In an in-person madrassah, students benefit from direct interaction with teachers, who can observe their progress and immediately correct any mistakes. This allows for tailored instruction that addresses each student's specific needs. Whether it's reciting the Qur'an, learning tajweed, or understanding Islamic rulings, having a teacher physically present ensures students can clarify doubts and receive focused guidance.

In-person classes enable students to form strong social bonds with their peers, fostering a sense of community. Learning together allows students to share knowledge, support each other, and work collaboratively. This was of education instills Islamic values like cooperation, patience, and mutual respect, which are harder to cultivate in an online setting.

Barakah of Praying Together in Congregation

Attending an in-person madrassah provides the opportunity to participate in congregational prayers, which carries immense barakah (blessings). Praying together strengthens the bond of brotherhood and sisterhood among students, and the rewards of collective worship far exceed those of praying alone. It also helps students develop a habit of attending the masjid or madrassah regularly for salah, instilling a sense of community and unity.

Enhanced Focus and Discipline

The physical setting of a madrassah minimises distractions common in an online environment. With a structured classroom, students are more likely to remain focused on their studies. The disciplined atmosphere helps maintain attention and promotes an effective learning routine, allowing for better retention and understanding of Islamic knowledge.
